

TRANSMISSION

Recovered field transmission // C-29 Echo

ALPHA,

If you found this, then Meridian followed you exactly as I expected. They have been watching every move you make, so I needed to give them something worth following.

The coordinates were real. The reason for sending you there was different.

I needed you - and the Meridian eyes fixed on you - away from the one place where the key to stopping the Darkness could be found.

While you were gone, I used the opening.

I hid my final transmission in the place you need to return to if the Darkness is going to be stopped once and for all. Only you have what it takes.

*Where distant worlds are brought to light,
and unwritten words wait through the night;
where stories wake beneath your hand,
and you decide what worlds may stand.
Return to the seat from which you create -
your final transmission there awaits.*

What I left there is not the answer.

It is the instruction for how to turn the weapon against the Darkness.

Find it before Meridian realizes why I sent you away.

- Echo

C-29 ECHO // FIELD CACHE // KEEP OFF MERIDIAN NETWORK

